ter the appearance of Mrs. Roosevelt who, without debate, exited him to the corridor.

The tenseness of anxiety manifested yesterday began to disappear to-day. The nurses, who yesterday flitted silently about, stopped as they passed to chat. The policeman on guard at Colonel Roosevelt's door permitted himself the luxury of a chair.

On the street outside of the hospital there was less of a crowd, and at times only newspaper reporters and correspondents were to be seen.

Messages of condolence continued to pour in to-day from all parts of the world. Among them were cablegrams from crowned heads of Europe. Colonel Roosevelt read over a large number of telegrams, but found it impossible to reply to them all. One of them was from Samuel Gompers, reading:

"Upon learning of the outrageous attack upon you, I was too much shocked to find expression. I join with the men of organized labor, in common with all our people who are profoundly hoping for and expecting your speedy recovery."

Colonel Roosevelt laughed heartily from a message from three of his athletic friends:

"The Bull Moose League of Athletics expresses to you its deepest sympathy and trusts that our athletic Bull Moose will soon be restored to us. Committee—Johnny Hayes, Melvin Seppard, Michael J. Ryan."

Colonel Roosevelt's old friend, Father Curran, of Wellesboro, Pa., arrived at the hospital late in the day, having come from Battle Creek, Mich., to see the Colonel. An hour before he arrived a telegram was received from him saying:

"I cannot rest until I see you. Be at hospital."

Colonel Roosevelt talked with him for a quarter of an hour.

This Dear

was a nurse to the sick during the Civil War. Twenty-three years ago when her doctor thought she would die from her illness and no medicines would be useful, she used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Look at her photograph. You can see how content she makes now, how brain alert, eyes bright and how much power to maintain your faculties and pleased friendships if you will follow her example.

If you are not aging gracefully, you should not, if your faculties are not in attention and interest of your life, you can benefit from the experience as good as it turns out to be. To her was pretty good, she thought. Read her letter, which follows:

"I am 72 years old and have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for over past 23 years. When I first took it, it was of a few months before I would die from it. The doctor said it was no use to take a lot of eggs and milk, and use about a Whiskey in each glass of egg and milk.

"At the expiration of ten months I was in weight steadily, and to-day I weigh good that I can remember things that I left off Hampton Roads, between the Monitor and the Merrimack. I was then nursing the sick and wounded in the war was over.

"I went to Canton, China, as a nurse, and can recall many of the disastrous events of this period in China. Hoping that I can tell others what it has done for me, I reside at 2043 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

does more toward restoring and maintaining the faculties in men and women than any other tonic-stimulant. It builds steadily, and her cold disappeared. It cured her consumption. He prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and to-day, 23 years after her service, she is at the age of 72 she is alive and well.

Determine to-day to regain your mind to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Write our doctors for advice. They will send you a bottle free. You will also receive a valuable certificate.

UNION SEMINARY GETS BIG GIFTS

Widow of Cyrus McCormick
Donates $10,000 to Endowment Fund.

G. W. WATTS GIVES $45,000

Centennial Exercises Followed by Monster Mass-Meeting at Auditorium.

Two thousand men and women of the Presbyterian faith, the Synod of Virginia and the Synod of North Carolina, theologians and ministers assembled in the City Auditorium last night to honor to Union Theological Seminary on its centennial anniversary. On the stage were members of the board of trustees of Union Seminary, Governor Mann, who is a delegate to the Synod of Virginia; the moderator of the two synods, the speakers of the evening and a company of men whose genius, services and force have placed them in the front rank of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

As a fitting climax to the day of rejoicing came the announcement of two princely gifts to Union Seminary. John S. Munce, treasurer of the board of trustees, took the floor just before the close of the meeting and announced first, the payment by George W. Watts, of Durnam, of the final $15,000 installment of his gift of $45,000 for the Walter W. Moore Foundation, and second, the gift of $10,000 for the endowment fund by the widow of Cyrus W. McCormick. Mrs. McCormick's gift was announced in a telegram to Dr. W. W. Moore. The gift is made in the memory of her distinguished husband who was himself a generous supporter of the ministry during his lifetime.

Impressive Service.

The fire and zeal of the meeting last night was the most impressive of any religious convence in this city since the Chapman-Alexander revival. From all the South came men with messages of congratulations and felicitations to Union Seminary on the celebration of its century of useful endeavor. The audience joined as one man in the singing of the opening hymn. Following prayer by the Rev. Peyton H. Hoge, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., greetings were heard from other institutions. The Rev. W. M. McPheters appeared on behalf of the Columbia Seminary. The Rev. E. K. Vincent for Austin Seminary, and the Rev. Charles R. Hemphill to deliver the felicitations of Kentucky Seminary.

In welcoming the visitors to the city and State, Governor Mann remarked that he has often had the task of offering the keys of the Commonwealth to commercial organizations here, but this was his first opportunity to welcome a religious gathering. He wanted to acknowledge, as Governor of Virginia, he said, the indebtedness of the Commonwealth to Union Seminary and the "Bible," which, as I read it, contains the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." Brief responses were made by the moderator of the two synods, and the speakers of the evening were introduced.

"Seminary to Home Missions."

The subject, "Union Seminary and Home Missions" was discussed by the Rev. Egbert W. Smith, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., with all the eloquence of a famous speaker's command. He deftly pointed out the glorious leadership which Union Seminary has exercised in the field of home missions showing by actual statistics that a overwhelming majority of home mission workers in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and North Carolina were sons of Union Seminary, and that the leaders in the mission work in Missouri are also alumni of this seminary.

upon the contribution of men that Union has made to the mission cause, and the part its sons have played in the production of missionary literature.

Exercises in Afternoon.

Under ideal weather conditions, the afternoon exercises were held on the campus of the seminary under the graceful trees and shadows of the sacred walls. As a protection against the possible rain, a tent was erected on the campus and the speakers' platform placed under shelter. The Rev. R. F. Campbell, D. D., of Asheville, N. C., delivered an address on "Union Seminary in the Pastorate," the Rev. David M. Sweets, D. D., spoke on "Union Seminary in Religious Journalism;" the Rev. Theron H. Rice, D. D., of the faculty of Union Seminary, had the theme, "Union Seminary in Theological Education and Religious Thought." A poem to Union Seminary was read by Rev. William Hervey Woods, D. D., of Baltimore. George W. Watts, of Durham, presided.

Immediately after the close of the afternoon exercises, refreshments were served in the refectory, and a reception to the visitors was held in Richmond Hall. The 200 members of the synod of North Carolina, who arrived in Richmond yesterday morning for the centennial on a special train from Goldsboro, furnished by Mr. Watts, were entertained at luncheon at the Richmond Hotel and driven out to the Seminary in time for the exercises of the afternoon. The North Carolina Synod spent the night at the Richmond Hotel and will leave on the special for Goldsboro this morning.

On account of the visit of the North Carolina Synod and the centennial celebration of the seminary, the Virginia Synod held but one session yesterday, that in the morning. The moderator, the Rev. E. T. Wellford, announced the appointment of the standing committee. A few overtures were presented and referred to committee. The synod then adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock.

Standing Committee.

The most important of the standing committees as announced by the moderator were:

ing spirit in the national work, was a son of Union, while the leaders in synodical and assembly's home missions are nearly all the products of this institution.

To the Rev. James I. Vance, D. D. of Nashville, Tenn., was assigned the theme "Union Seminary in Foreign Missions." In the difficult position of last speaker on the list, he held his audience almost to a man. The character of Union Seminary could be summed up in a word, he said—spirituality. Ministers are involved in and under everything taught in this seminary, with the result that the students are prominent in every missionary gathering and conference, and a large portion of them devote their lives to the foreign field. He showed that almost without exception, the heads of the various mission boards of the church were Union men. He dwelt at length

Dr. Plummer Bryan to Preach.

The Rev. W. S. Plummer Bryan, D. D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Chicago, Ill., will reach Richmond Saturday evening and be the guest of his brother, George Bryan. Dr. Bryan will preach at the Grace Street Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, and at night at the First Presbyterian Church. As Dr. Bryan has a national reputation not only as a preacher, but as a speaker, he will no doubt have large congregations at both services.

When the population of the UNITED STATES was approximately 93,570,033, the family expenditures were as follows:

Food	$7,600,000,000
Clothing	2,435,000,000
Intoxicants	1,800,000,000
Tobacco	850,000,000
Fuel	735,000,000
Life Insurance	600,000,000
Furniture	580,000,000
